Enforcement and compliance

Describe how your operation will ensure compliance with the employee code of conduct and self-isolation and health and safety guidelines.

E.g. • Employees will be monitored for symptoms daily while in self-isolation and will be asked to sign a daily wellness checklist. The on-site supervisor will enforce social distancing practices and ensure that employees are adhering to the self-isolation and health and safety guidelines.

Employee schedule

Providing the Government of Yukon with the following information will allow public health officials to respond rapidly in the event of an employee becoming symptomatic in the field. As information changes, owner/operators should contact YCDC to provide updated crew and client schedules. Personal details like contact information and addresses do not need to be included but must be kept on file so that it can be provided to public health officials quickly if needed.

Employee arrival/departure schedule List the name and arrival and departure date of any staff who will be self-isolating in camp. Include the province/territory of departure. E.g. John Doe arriving August 10th from Alberta, departing end of season (October).
